Come and have your say in shaping our city together.

The People for Public Services forum would like to invite you to its online forum on:

Tuesday 9th February 2021
2pm – 3pm

This is an exciting time for Birmingham. There are major changes planned that will create new jobs, homes and transport connections.

Birmingham has witnessed a surge in development and investment providing the jobs, homes, public transport and green spaces that we need. Whilst we face a number of challenges, these improvements have planted the seeds for the future success of the city and its residents.

The team behind the Shaping Our City Together document would like to hear your views before they have even drafted a plan. They believe the future of our city can only deliver the best for the community when we have diverse set of voices shaping it.

The team has designed a presentation to engage, provoke debate and seek a wealth of ideas from a range of voices rather than set out a fixed plan of action, it sets out a way forward to ensure that local people benefit fully from both new and existing opportunities.

We want you to have your say and to play your part in shaping the future of Birmingham.

Eventbrite
Everyone is welcome to attend as your views are important.
If you would like to attend the online forum, please register here. You will be emailed a link 24 hours before the event goes live.
If you are unable to book a place using Eventbrite, please do not hesitate to contact us via our email getinvolved@birmingham.

If you can’t attend this time details of future arrangements will be posted on our webpage, which includes all details of all papers from previous meetings.